About Elgar

Edward Elgar Publishing is a leading international academic and professional publisher with a strong focus on the social sciences and legal fields. They publish 350 titles annually and have successfully created a prestigious list of more than 5,500 titles.

The company was founded by current Chairman, Edward Elgar, and remains a family business. Edward's original vision was to create a publishing house that attracted high-quality books by offering a superior service to authors, and they remain focused on treating potential authors and their books with care and attention to detail.

Elgar Journals in HeinOnline

HeinOnline is now able to offer comprehensive coverage of selected Elgar legal journals online through a special arrangement. Six titles have been added to the Law Journal Library with a three-year embargo at no additional charge, and current content for these journals is now available with a new package. Purchasing the package will open access to the most current material published in all titles included within the purchased package. This package provides access to both HeinOnline and Elgaronline's platforms for one great price.

Managing Editor: Julia Dehm, Lecturer, La Trobe Law School, Australia

Editors: Louis J. Kotze, North-West University, South Africa and Deputy Director of GNHRE, Evadne Grant, Bristol Law School, University of the West of England, UK, Stephen J. Humphreys, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK, and Evadne Grant, Associate Head, Department of Law, University of the West of England, UK, Coordinator, Global Network for the Study of Human Rights and the Environment (GNHRE) and Editor, Journal of Human Rights and the Environment
Assistant Editors: Joshua C. Gellers, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science and Public Administration, University of North Florida, USA, Margherita Pieraccini, Senior Lecturer in Law, University of Bristol, UK, and Dinah Shelton, Professor of International Law, George Washington University, US

The relationship between human rights and the environment is a fascinating, uneasy, and increasingly urgent one. This international journal provides a strategic academic forum in which an extended interdisciplinary and multilayered conversation can take place concerning the challenges located at the interface of these two centrally important fields. This journal releases two issues a year.

Queen Mary Journal of Intellectual Property

Editor-in-Chief: Johanna Gibson, Herchel Smith Professor of Intellectual Property Law, Queen Mary University of London, UK

Consultant Editor: Lord Hoffman, Honorary Professor of Intellectual Property Law, Queen Mary University of London, UK

As an extension of the Queen Mary Intellectual Property Research Institute's reputation as one of the foremost centers for intellectual property research and education, QMJIP has become an important forum for quality scholarship in this field, publishing full-length articles as well as analysis pieces and case reports, on a quarterly basis. This journal releases four issues a year.

Asia Pacific Journal of Environmental Law

Editors: Professor Tim Stephens and Associate Professor Ed Couzens, Faculty of Law, University of Sydney, Australia

Associate Editors: Dr. Saiful Karim, Faculty Law, Queensland University of Technology, Brisbane, Australia and Dr. Manuel Solis, Lecturer, Adelaide Law School, Australia

A journal addressing the dynamic developments in environmental law in the Asia Pacific region, APJEL was established in 1996 and has a global reputation for publishing scholarly and current analysis of all aspects of Asia Pacific environmental law and policy. APJEL has been published by Edward Elgar since 2016 and joins Edward Elgar's growing list of international scholarly journals. This journal releases two issues a year.

Cambridge International Law Journal

Editors-in-Chief: Richard Clements, University of Cambridge and Ya Lan Chang, University of Cambridge

The Cambridge International Law Journal (CILJ) succeeds the Cambridge Journal of International and Comparative Law, which was established in 2011 at the University of Cambridge. CILJ is a double-blind peer-reviewed journal with a broad focus on international law.

CILJ publishes in all areas of international law, including regional and transnational legal regime, such as European Union Law. CILJ provides a platform for both young and well-established academics to publish outstanding research on cutting edge, highly topical international law issues alongside, and in dialog with, each other. This journal releases two issues a year.

Interactive Entertainment Law Review - Now Available!

Editors: Dr. Gaetano Dimita, Queen Mary University of London, Professor Jon Festinger, Q.C., Allard School of Law (UBC), Centre for Digital Media, Canada, and Centre for Commercial Law Studies, Queen Mary University of London, UK, Dr. Marc Mimler, Bournemouth University, UK

The aim of the Interactive Entertainment Law Review is to serve as a peer-reviewed hub for legal analysis of interactive entertainment, video games, virtual/augmented/mixed realities, social media, and all related and emergent forms of digital interactive entertainment. The Journal is published twice a year with articles focusing on the legal changes, challenges and controversies in this high profile and increasingly critical area of legal inquiry.

Renmin Chinese Law Review - Bonus Title!

Renmin Chinese Law Review, Vol. 1 is the first work in a series of annual volumes on contemporary Chinese law, which bring together the work of recognized scholars from China, offering a window on current legal research in China. The journal addresses topics such as the law theory of public interest, as well as issues pertaining to the Chinese legal system's implementation of WTO laws. All of the contributions provide useful insights for those wishing to explore China's increasing influence in international law and politics as well China's recent legal reforms.
