On the History of International Law and International Organization

Collected Papers of Sir Paul Vinogradoff

Edited by William E. Butler

Justly famous as a historian and comparative lawyer, Vinogradoff also wrote on public international law. This original volume collects most of his most important contributions to this field: The Legal and Political Aspect of the League of Nations (1918), The Reality of the League of Nations (c. 1919), The Covenant of the League: Great and Small Powers (1919), and History of the Law of Nations (1921). The first three, which discuss the League during its formative months in the context of contemporary international affairs, are little known today. The Reality of the League of Nations is published here for the first time. History of the Law of Nations, an outgrowth of Vinogradoff's research in historical jurisprudence, is a brilliant synthesis of international law and legal history that elaborates many of the subjects treated in his Outlines of Historical Jurisprudence. In sum, this new title from Lawbook Exchange, Ltd. introduces a lesser-known side of this important scholar.

**On the History of International Law and International Organization is published in association with the Vinogradoff Institute, Dickinson School of Law of Pennsylvania State University.*
