A Smarter, Faster Start to Research

HeinOnline's Article Summaries mark an evolution in how researchers approach legal and scholarly literature. By offering an instant overview of an article's content, the tool bridges the gap between search and scholarship, helping users identify relevant sources faster and more confidently.

Instead of wading through thousands of pages, researchers can now view concise, 200–300-word summaries that highlight an article's core thesis, key issues, and findings. These summaries help users quickly determine which articles deserve deeper attention, allowing them to focus more on analysis, comparison, and scholarship.

Built with Trust and Privacy in Mind

Designed with privacy as a top priority, all AI functionality for Article Summaries is developed and hosted entirely within HeinOnline's secure infrastructure. No third-party tools or external data processing are used so user data remains private and protected.

- No third-party tools.
- No hidden data collection.
- Just smarter, quicker research.
